

Free Pre-Conference Workshop

*46th National
Adapted Physical Education Conference
November 16-18, 2017
Doubletree Hotel - Sacramento, CA*

Thursday, November 16th, 12:00 – 5:00 pm

Including Children with Visual Impairments or Deafblindness into Physical Education: A Universal Design Approach

Dr. Lauren Lieberman, Distinguished Service Professor

State University of New York, Brockport & Founder/Director of Camp Abilities

Dr. Beth Foster

California State Polytechnic University, Pomona

Children with visual impairments are being included in general physical education now more than ever. Unfortunately, even the most well-meaning teachers do not always have the background or knowledge to include these children safely or successfully. Please join us for this FREE half-day workshop and learn how to include children with visual impairments or deafblindness. Our nationally recognized presenters will share instructional techniques, equipment options (many are free), blind sports, validated assessments, and a variety of relevant resources that will help your entire program. There will be time to discuss specific situations and help each teacher meet the specific needs of their current program.

Dr. Lauren Lieberman, Ph. D. is a Distinguished Service Professor of adapted physical education at the State University of New York (SUNY) in Brockport and the founder/director of Camp Abilities, a developmental sports camp for students with blindness, deaf-blindness, or vision loss. Dr. Lieberman is an internationally-known speaker and has authored numerous books and articles on adapted physical activity.

Dr. Elizabeth (Beth) Foster, Ph. D. is an assistant professor at Cal Poly Pomona in adapted physical education (APE). She is the APE program coordinator and Motor Development Clinic Director at Cal Poly Pomona. She is currently the assistant director for Camp Abilities in Pennsylvania and Texas. Dr. Foster has presented research and various application based presentations on vision loss and deaf-blindness across the US within the field of adapted sports and APE. She completed intervener training at the Minnesota Deafblind Project. In addition, Dr. Foster has been involved with various adapted sport organizations and disability organizations promoting physical activities for all individuals with disabilities.
